

Remote Monitoring and Predictive Analytics Drive Growth in Asset Performance Management Market

New ARC Advisory Group research on the market for Asset Performance Management (APM) reveals positive outlook for APM investments in process industries

DEDHAM, MA, UNITED STATES, June 3, 2021

/EINPresswire.com/ -- "Industrial operations are focusing on smart data instead of just big data. Smart data combines product know-how and process expertise with data analytics to reduce unplanned downtime and improve operational efficiency. Smart data brings this understanding to the forefront and enables better decisions. Advanced automation systems combined with advanced analytics enable data scientists to predict and prevent failures and uncover opportunities for performance improvements, as well as energy and cost savings. This creates high value for industrial operations and drives growth in the APM market. Although in
