

What Should Young Professionals Know About Retirement? A Free Educational Webinar from Advice Chaser

Give yourself a headstart on your financial life with a free educational webinar on retirement geared toward young professionals.

NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK, USA, June 2, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- If you're a young professional, you have opportunities to shape what your career and life will look like for the next several decades. You may have started your first 401(k), or maybe you're wondering how much of your new paycheck you should be saving. Give yourself a headstart on your financial life with a free educational webinar on retirement geared toward young professionals. The webinar, hosted by Advice Chaser, will be on June 2 at 12:00 noon Central Time. Be sure to reserve your place here!

Advice Chaser, a financial concierge service that matches clients with experienced financial advisors, asked Kade Hammes to be the guest speaker. Kade, a Certified Financial Planner, specializes in financial planning for young professionals and families. After working for one of the largest accounting firms in the country, he founded Storybook Financial, so named because he realizes that each client's life is a unique story. In this webinar, he'll be discussing important aspects of finance to consider while you're young, such as:

- How to balance your resources of time, money, and energy when it comes to planning for the future, and why retirement is so much more than just money
- Different age milestones that will factor into your Social Security benefits
- How having kids could affect your savings rates
- Potential tax implications for your retirement decisions
- Tips for maximizing your savings without downgrading your lifestyle

This Advice Chaser webinar focuses on retirement advice for young professionals.

- How student loans and their interest rates factor into your cash flow

“Kade Hammes has a genuine passion for empowering young professionals. He knows that the earlier you start planning, the more you can create the future you want,” said Megan Coelho, President of Advice Chaser. “He also cares about balancing planning for the future with living in the present, which is a perspective that is particularly valuable. You won’t want to miss his insights, professional advice, and personal experiences.”

If you’re beginning your career, the best thing you can do for yourself is to start considering retirement now. Don’t let the government tell you when to retire—you can equip yourself with knowledge early on in life. To get personalized advice for your financial situation, contact Advice Chaser.
