Coach "Mo" Faul, Career and Leadership Coach

I was introduced to my soul in a new way as I became acquainted with my vulnerability, over and over again... I found a new sense of self.”

Coach Mo Faul

Once upon a time, an ambitious woman struggled to be who she was supposed to be.

"The world was hard and the climb of life was steep. My career and soul spent way too many years separated. I wondered if I would ever find peace inside me. Then, one day, the doctors said, "cancer" and my world was turned upside down.

I was introduced to my soul in a new way as I became acquainted with my vulnerability, over and over again. My body suffered many physical challenges; at times all I could rely on was my soul. The inner self had to take over. Through this adversity, I found a new sense of self, which I share often with my audience and those who stumble upon my work.

Last year, a pandemic swept the world. The energy of change that was all about us initiated another period of deep reflection for me as I scurried about, like a squirrel in early winter, to collect and store as many lovely lives and souls who needed help and lifting as I could. The world is changed forever. It's never been clearer that we need each other. We need our soul. Our soul is what directs our lives. Our soul is the very truth and energy we need to live a fulfilled life." - Coach Mo Faul
