Blockchain and cryptocurrency have rocked the global financial services industry. People are realising and starting to accept that these technologies are driving significant and necessary changes in financial technology (FINTECH) and streamlining inefficiencies in various industries. When we created Safcoin in 2018, we had the vision to accelerate the e-commerce space in Africa with a digital currency, wallet, gateway, freelance, and marketplace platform.

Developed by Africans, for Africans.

The founding members of the Safcoin project possess extensive experience within the E-commerce, Gig Economy, and online payments processing space, with strong and revered knowledge and background of the frequently encountered obstacles and complexities that have delayed growth within these sectors, across the African countries we serve. Another noteworthy aspect of our extensive portfolio is the myriad of services accessible via our platforms, some of which are still in fervent development. At Safcoin, we pride ourselves in the fierce pursuit of our mission to provide users with the holistic crypto and e-commerce experience through our Safcoin eco-system, ranging from functions that facilitate crypto transactions, all the way through to providing a platform for job stimulus. It is an exciting time to lead the industry into the next growth phase.
