BOXBOROUGH, MASSACHUSETTS, UNITED STATES, June 4, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Vibalogics, a global virotherapy contract development and manufacturing organization (CDMO), Arranta Bio ("Arranta"), the leading microbiome CDMO, along with Lincoln Property Company (LPC) today made a significant donation to the Boxborough Conservation Trust (BCT) a private, nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization founded in 1997 to preserve and protect Boxborough Massachusetts's rural character and natural resources.

Arranta and Vibalogics are both tenants of LPC and each company is developing the former Cisco Systems Inc. facility at 1414 Massachusetts Ave into a state-of-the-art cGMP biopharmaceutical manufacturing facility. Both organizations embrace working in harmony with the environment, their neighbors and with the town staff and boards.

The Boxborough site is being developed in phases, and work for Vibalogics has been approved by the planning board. The total investment in the facility is expected to exceed $200 million and employ around 400 employees between the two companies. The facilities for both companies are designed to flexibly support clients, including dedicated lab and biomanufacturing capacity that can support commercial manufacturing and supply life-changing medicine.

Scott Brown, Executive Vice President at LPC stated, "We are delighted to be able to work with two progressive biopharmaceutical manufacturing companies tackling highly prevalent diseases including cancer, dementia, diabetes, autism and other highly prevalent diseases. The 1414 facility has the potential to provide breakthrough treatments of the future."

Mark Bamforth, Executive Chairman and CEO of Arranta stated, "In 2019 we developed our company values, central to which is Arranta Bio Cares focusing on community outreach, diversity and inclusion, and environmental impact. Therefore we are delighted to be able to support the BCT in their role in protecting the Boxborough environment, common areas and providing advice to property owners."

Tom Hochuli, CEO of Vibalogics states, "We look forward to delivering a positive impact to mutually benefit both our business and the local community for many years to come." "Both our
