NEXX5 managerial team quotes

Michael Spindelegger, NEXX5 Chairman: "I'm thrilled to hear the kind of responses we've been getting about the services being provided by NEXX5. We're meeting a very real and growing need. This is a venture whose timing is perfect and we have already aligned many of the component for a very rapid expansion to geographies beyond Europe."

Wolf Hisserich, NEXX5 CEO: "NEXX5 is here to transform the way technology infrastructure is designed and deployed. In keeping with the transformative integration of data that will power smart cities, our products are design engineered to offer more functionality, pleasing aesthetics and easier installation. And those aren't typical values for current infrastructure tech". "Supporting 5G densification with our distinctive solutions is our immediate priority, but the vision for NEXX5 is to provide a whole ranging of enabling technologies that make it more affordable for companies and local government to support the wider upgrade of the urban fabric. We will be at the heart of this transformation with newer technologies, better designs and easier implementation solutions."

Mario Diel, IKAR Industries Chairman and Co-Founder: "The speed with which NEXX5 has accelerated from the business planning to the stage of operational readiness has impressed us. The calibre of the operational team is always key to maintaining momentum and I have full confidence in the know-how of this team"
