

Author, Mark S. Lewis Celebrates Non-Profit as part of GIVE A DAMN Movement

Donation of $1 will be made to Sojihuggles Children's Foundation for every person who takes the Global Accountability Pledge In June.

BATON ROUGE , LA, USA, June 8, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- What do Amazon best-selling author Mark S. Lewis, and T-Love, Founder of the non-profit organization, Sojihuggles Children's Foundation have in common? They both believe that spreading positivity and giving back to the community are the keys to success in life and in business.

Lewis'book, GIVE A DAMN - The Ticket to Cultural Change, promotes his belief that traditional values such as honesty, trust, accountability, responsibility, altruism, integrity, and respect for others are the foundation of moral wealth and prosperity; and these traits also lead to a happier and more fulfilling life (research proves it!)! He explains that individuals and businesses who embrace the GIVE A DAMN! philosophy - the commitment to putting others' needs before self, will help lift our communities and society-at-large.

Sojihuggles Children's Foundation is a 501(3)(c)organization that embodies the GIVE A DAMN ideal by helping children. The New Jersey-

Global Citizen Accountability Pledge

As a global citizen, I pledge to develop a stronger awareness and understanding of my thoughts and feelings, which can lead to behaviors and actions that could be viewed as selfish, critical and destructive.

As a global citizen, I pledge to admit when I have made a mistake due to my own actions, I will take responsibility for it, and do everything I can to make it right without justification or excuse no matter the circumstance or consequence that I might have to face. I pledge to do the right thing always.

As a global citizen, I pledge that each and every day I will take concrete steps to spread acts of kindness and foster respect for all people. I promise to spread goodwill and cooperation amongst all people to the best of my ability.

As a global citizen, I pledge to provide a deep commitment to putting the needs of others first, to improve my interpersonal relationships with others and to respect all people in order to motivate and inspire positivity.

As a global citizen, I pledge to take the lead in implementing the GIVE A DAMN philosophy as a way of serving others and to do so collectively without ego, criticism, condemning or complaining. I pledge to FULLY carry out the principles of the GIVE A DAMN philosophy each and every day to the best of my ability because I know that this will lead to greater success, happiness and clarity of my purpose in life.

For every person who takes the Global Accountability Pledge $1 will be donated to Sojihuggles Children's Foundation based organization's mission is to provide underprivileged children with the basic necessities of life so they may grow, thrive, and contribute to society in meaningful ways. "Approximately 1 in 7 children struggles with hunger in New Jersey alone, that's over 268,000 children," says Love, "Hunger impacts a child's self-esteem, confidence, and ability to do well in school and social situations. They are also more likely to experience impairments in language and motor skills. We want to do our part to change that."

Love also pointed out the mental health crisis for children in America. Pre-Covid, approximately 14.6 million children in America had a diagnosable mental health disorder. That number has increased significantly in the past year and is now 18.9 million, an increase of 4.3 million. The pandemic has triggered a 31% rise in children's emergency room visits for mental health challenges and suicide rates have tripled in children aged 10-14. Mental health problems in young people are associated with outcomes such as suicide, substance use, inability to live independently, justice involvement, school dropout, economic hardship, and physical health problems.
