The unique lines of the roof pay homage to the surrounding landscape, the wooden front entry offers a welcoming feel, the walls of windows frame blue skies, pine, and aspen trees. Invite guests to relax by the fire pit on the white-marbled stone terrace. Cook, dine, play, or lounge while overlooking the waters of North Piney Creek. Explore more than 15 acres of rainbow trout-stocked ponds, private trails, creek frontage, and forest. Inside, find rich hardwoods; warm accents; a remarkable wine cellar; ventilated cigar room; spa-worthy baths for him and her; sauna and private gym. In addition, the accompanying guest accommodations are expansive and private. Friends and family can choose from a guest wing in the main house, a cabin, or a large separate guest home.

Adjacent to North Piney Creek, in the foothills of the Big Horn Mountains, the town of Banner is surrounded by historical monuments, wide-open plains, rugged peaks, and endless blue skies. Red Dog Ranch is placed next to 250 acres of state land, which allows access to wide open space in Wyoming. The Sheridan County estate is just south of the Montana border, close to I-90 and I-25. Head south for Casper, Cheyenne, and Denver, or northwest for Billings and Bozeman. Influenced in the traditions of its western lifestyle, this region hosts monuments from the charged and important history of westward expansion. Bighorn National Forest is just one hour away. Drive through Shoshone National Forest and stare at the 40 mile mountain range and onto Yellowstone, around five hours away. The estate is a secluded vantage point to revel in nature. Fly into Sheridan County Airport, a few miles away, or the regional airports in Casper and Billings.
