In the heart of Anaheim California's Resort District, the newly constructed Westin Anaheim Resort opened for travelers on June 2nd. The new resort opened with InvoTech's RFID Uniform System already in place to maximize cost-savings immediately. InvoTech has extensive experience in implementing systems for new properties, which they provided on-site installation and training services to ensure all uniforms were issued and recorded properly before the grand opening.

"The Westin Anaheim Resort started operations using the InvoTech Uniform System for accurate and real-time inventory information of approximately 5,000 uniform items. Uniforms are assigned to employees using an electronic signature capture terminal that records employee signatures when uniforms are assigned. This procedure eliminates the need for physical contact, no paper is required, and transactions are automatically recorded.” said Oswald Lares, Director of Sales & Marketing at InvoTech Systems, Inc.

The InvoTech UHF-RFID Uniform System will track and manage contactless transactions for all team members. The Westin Anaheim Resort uses a conveyor system that automatically delivers the correct clean uniform items to staff. InvoTech communicates with the delivery system to simplify and automate operations by tracking when staff members retrieve their uniform with their employee ID card. The efficient process means the resort’s uniform accounting is accurate without the added expense of manual processes and recordkeeping. The system also integrates Portable Handheld RFID Readers with InvoTech Mobile Software for flexibility on where uniforms can be processed.

InvoTech has over 700 of satisfied clients worldwide in more than 36 countries, including hotels, resorts, casinos, theme parks, stadiums, arenas, convention centers, medical centers, cleanrooms, and laundries.
