WOODLAND PARK, COLORADO, UNITED STATES, June 14, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With a potential landmark case being reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court, and a wave of pro-life lawmakers entering Congress, the end of abortion in America may be on the horizon, according to Marjorie Dannenfelser, president of the Susan B. Anthony List.

The Susan B. Anthony List's "mission is to end abortion by electing national leaders and advocating for laws that save lives, with a special calling to promote pro-life women leaders.”

The conservative-majority U.S. Supreme Court recently announced it will review a case which could be a direct challenge to the Roe v. Wade ruling that legalized abortion in the United States. The justices will consider Dobbs v.

Jackson Women's Health Organization, which focuses on a Mississippi law limiting abortion after 15 weeks of pregnancy.

“We think it’s very likely, at a minimum, we will see a situation that is much better,” said Dannenfelsler.

According to the Susan B. Anthony List, the Court “will consider the question of whether all ‘pre-viability’ bans on abortion are unconstitutional.” Scientific advancements in the nearly 50 years since Roe have paved the way for an opportunity to show that unborn children have sensation early in pregnancy. “It really is an enormous cultural and Christian moment coming that I think will have ripple effects in so many ways,” said Dannenfelsler.

The Susan B. Anthony List recently launched an advertising campaign confirming the humanity of unborn children.

The most recent election cycle was a banner year for the right to life, according to Dannenfelsler whose organization endorses candidates on the life issue. “We had a record number of pro-life women elected to the U.S. House of Representatives – thirty – which was an enormous increase,” said Dannenfelsler.

“[The increase in pro-life women representatives] was a sizable faction of the overall Republican ascending majority that will very likely tip the balance of the U.S. House to be conservative and Republican again,” said Dannenfelsler.

Conservative voices like Dannenfelsler are asked to join the Truth & Liberty Coalition weekly livecast to educate viewers about significant social issues “We find often that Christians don’t know where to start,” said Richard Harris, executive director, Truth & Liberty Coalition. “Our goal is to educate audiences and connect with resources and groups like Dannenfelsler’s across the nation to help them impact their own spheres of influence.”
