

Breaking Free for a New Life

The story of a young couple fleeing the terrors of communism

COOKSTOWN, NEW JERSEY, USA, June 14, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- World War II was a pivotal moment in human history and the stories that were born from it span the entire spectrum of emotions, from tragic and saddening to hopeful and joyous. These stories include major ones, like the fallout each country experienced, to the individual ones, like what each person involved went through during and after the conflict. Such is the story written by author Bernada Rojko, "Escape Across the Border: A Search for a Better Life," which follows a young couple's escape after their country was taken over by communism after World War II.

Escape Across the Border: A Search for a Better Life

Bernada Dragar Rojko, known as Nadia or Nada in her native Yugoslavia, experienced the adverse effects that followed World War II firsthand. Born to a poor family of 10 siblings, Nadia lost her mother early on at the age of eight and since then had to struggle in the years that would follow. Food was scarce, agony and sorrow were rampant, and she had to endure the oppressive rule of Josip Broz Tito and his regime. She and her future husband Rudy decided that the only way to have a better future was to escape into nearby Austria. Facing dangers, the risk of death, and the prospect of not seeing their families and homeland ever again, Nadia and Rudy succeeded and found their freedom.

Her book follows her own life story of escaping the tyrannical communistic government that took over her native Yugoslavia post World War II. Nadia and Rudy, a young couple looking to find a better future, walked for days on end with no food and water, and against all odds, avoided border guards, harsh weather, and natural barriers to be within reach of their destination. However, a near brush with a border guard encampment and being interned in a refugee camp in Austria could put their futures at risk.

Find out how Nadia and Rudy's story ended and how they found the better life they fought hard to get by getting this book today!

About Writers' Branding

Writers' Branding is a full-service self-publishing company that provides aspiring authors exclusive access to publicity and a pool of book evaluators and marketing creatives and bridges them to literary agencies and traditional publishing houses.

Please visit www.writersbranding.com for more information.

Writers' Branding LLC

Writers' Branding LLC

+1 800-608-6550

email us here

Visit us on social media:

Facebook

Twitter

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/543772339>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2021 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.