Co-Founder and CEO, Greg Wixted says:

"We really wanted to do something fun, different and innovative that would give our customers different types of baking experiences. But we also wanted to keep it simple, so we spent a lot of time working through the processes and simplifying recipes. We looked at the ingredients, so we wanted to inject some fun into the traditional perception of the premium baking category and added a missing part to the Recipe Kit Category – desserts, bakes and treats." greg wixted that our customers don't have to spend any more money beyond our boxes; and we don't use butter and try to use nut-based milks and no gelatine, to make our recipes accessible to vegetarians and vegans. In everything we do we ask ourselves, is it innovative? and what is the benefit to the consumer?

Together, with our suppliers and the manufacturing team we wanted to inject some fun into the traditional perception of the premium baking category and added a missing part to the Recipe Kit Category – desserts, bakes and treats. The new products are on-trend, unique and visually stunning.
