Many happy members have given the chain's location in Lehi, UT an impressive 5.0 rating (out of 5.0) and the location has maintained a high standard since its opening. "It is so good to see customers coming in and experiencing the healing effects of IV treatment for the first time," said Heidi Neville. "We get great reviews from first-time customers, but our monthly members seem to benefit the very most from the services. Something that used to be available only in hospitals or a few specialized clinics is now available to all with our trained and medically-supervised staff providing this service."

Here are a few highlights from a growing number of online reviews:

In his 5-star review, Joe R. wrote, "Perfect date night. Yep, you read that right. Took my date here and we both had a wonderful relaxing time that included massage chairs and the most awesome staff you will ever come across. I ended up choosing The Champion IV drip, with an additive, while my date picked out The Glow, with an additive. Neither of us was disappointed. The fact that you can use your HSA account here makes this all the more appealing because it allows a proactive approach to one's own health and wellness. I would recommend this place for anyone who is serious about their wellbeing."

One first-time visitor, Jeanine, wrote the following about her experience, "New to the experience, it was positive and worth it. The results have been great. I went in feeling run down, and I was directed to a couple of different options for my iv. I appreciated the massage chair, and the next day I woke up feeling energized and better than before."

"We love reading all of the positive comments about our staff," said Neville. "We strive to work with the best of the best."

IV therapy is medically supervised and growing in popularity. While patience may be a virtue, waiting on things such as your health can seem to take forever. Vitamins and supplements are a popular way to increase our health in a variety of different areas, but the problem is that our bodies only absorb around ten percent of oral vitamin supplements. IV therapy on the other hand provides essential vitamins and nutrients to your body with a 100% absorption rate. Whether you are wanting to lose weight, increase athletic performance, or boost your immunity, IV therapy can get you feeling your best in no time.

LEHI, UTAH

Come give us a try!"

Prime IV sessions generally last 30-45 minutes and are safe for all ages. There is no recovery time or need to wait afterward, so you are good to get on with your day while feeling your best.
