ALLATRA IPM

The whole world will be honored for Elon Musk to be part of this event as people would love to hear Mr. Musk's solution to the upcoming crisis.

ALLATRA IPM involves volunteers from more than 180 countries actively working on disseminating key messages to the world community. This conference is meant to bring attention to the urgent economic and technology crisis which we are to face as a civilization in the near future. It will gather leading specialists and scientists in the industry, high-caliber influencers, and opinion leaders in all fields as well as distinguished representatives of various countries.

It is our great pleasure to hear from Elon Musk as the world's most renowned innovator, businessman, and philanthropist who has contributed to the development of many industries and has impacted the lives of millions of people worldwide. Mr. Musk an inspiring example of a person who uses his life to accelerate humanity's evolution, promote advanced technologies, and improve people's lives on a global scale. At the same time, Elon's humanitarian and environmental initiatives are aimed at raising awareness of the problems that humanity faces nowadays and on finding effective solutions to these problems.

Taking into account Elon's prominent role in the development of many sectors of the world economy as well as your active public position, we take this opportunity to kindly invite Elon Musk as an honorary speaker at the international online conference "Global Crisis. This Already Affects Everyone," which will be held on July 24, at 8:00 a.m. PST (15:00 GMT), on the platform of ALLATRA International Public Movement.

Initiators and organizers of the conference are volunteers from over 180 countries, who have gathered together in order to raise awareness of the upcoming global crisis in various fields, which will affect every person on the planet, and to jointly find solutions to these problems for the benefit of all humanity. The significance of this event is difficult to overestimate due to its unprecedented scale and the scope of issues included in the agenda.

The topics to be discussed at the conference are as follows:

- (1) Development of advanced technology such as AI: threats to the global economy, to employment and safety of people worldwide;
- (2) Most pressing global issues: environmental degradation, climate change, inequality, and geopolitical tensions;
- (3) Solutions that will help humanity to promptly and efficiently cope with the above-mentioned issues.

Participants of the conference will include world business people, economists, innovators, researchers, public figures, as well as highly distinguished representatives of various countries.
