

The Mystery Searchers Family Book Series Offers its 8th Book, Continues to Thrill Wholesome Young Readers

The Mystery Searchers Series Offers Middle-Grade and Early YA Readers Wholesome Fun and Captivating Mystery With No Romance, Sex, or Cursing.

TEMPE, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, June 23, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- St. Leo Press, the self-publisher of the popular Mystery Searchers Family Book Series, just announced that Barry Forbes, the Series author, has released Series Book 8, The Hunt for the Elusive Mastermind. This new title adds to Forbes' well-received (and growing!) book collection, offering middle-grade / young adult readers "safe spaces" for solving exciting mysteries.

All the books in the Mystery Searchers Family Book Series involve no romance, sex, or cursing, yet kids use the latest technology in rollicking, fast-paced stories where they solve mysteries.

In each of the Series books, four high schoolers dive deep into their hometown of Prescott, Arizona, with its famous, rugged locales – just perfect for mystery solving – including Skull Valley, Yavapai County Courthouse, Prescott National Forest, the historic Whiskey Row, and more. They get a little help from technology, of course – lots of technology. Then there's the Chief, proud father and supporter of two of the kid detectives; Detective Joe Ryan, the dedicated investigator who never gives up; and, Heidi Hoover, the plucky star reporter of The Daily Pilot... as well as a host of other colorful characters.

"I initially wrote these books for my grandkids. They gobbled up the books, and demanded more titles for the series. Who am I to say no to grandkids!" Barry Forbes commented.

Here's what readers have been saying about the book!
