

Pageloot Announces the Launch of QR Codes for Classrooms

Digital classrooms face breaches by unidentified frauds & QR codes are created to solve this problem. Pageloot's QR Codes for Classrooms is the solution.

TALLINN, HARJU, ESTONIA, July 5, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- An Estonia-based QR code generator business, Pageloot announced the launch of QR codes for digital and online classrooms.

For the growing classroom breach complaints, QR codes are the solution. These codes are designed to track digital attendance and allow only authorized students to the classroom. It not only secures the classroom but also makes learning easier for students.

QR Codes can add value to a digital classroom.

“The purpose of the tool is to help kids in research, save their time and efforts, encourage mentally challenged students, and make access to the classroom available for all in this pandemic. It changes the conventional way of studying for kids and boosts their engagement and interest in educational activities,” said Siim Tiigimagi, one of the co-founders of Pageloot.

When asked what is required to create a QR code, here is what they said:

“It's a simple and fast process; just fill in the required details, choose customization, and download the image. Save the code as a picture and print it or insert it into any document,” said another co-founder of Pageloot Mikk Mel. The
