ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES,

June 30, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Representatives with ICOAZT, an Atlanta-based digital agency, announced today that it is now offering free web design consultations.

"We live in a digital world, so having a professional website can do wonders for any business or organization," said Juan Sebastian Perez, spokesperson for ICOAZT, a company that specializes in creating amazing human-based websites with no outsourcing.

Perez revealed that at ICOAZT, its team members are curious, constantly opening new doors and exploring new design paths to transform the digital world.

"We believe that people have a greater connection with humans than with machines, we believe that people prefer to hire a team rather than a company, and we believe that people buy based on feelings, not facts," Perez said before adding, "Therefore, we want to transmit that belief to your idea, creating a human-based website with a deeper emotional engagement."

ICOAZT, according to Perez, specializes in responsive web design.

"Sixty-seven percent of internet traffic comes from smartphones, and that is why we think mobile-first," Perez stressed. "Our web designers and developers in Atlanta, Miami, and Chicago create pixel-perfect websites adapted for every human behind the device, no matter what the screen resolution is."

The company also provides Search Engine Optimization (SEO) for top rankings.

"We make sure that the website we create together would attract the right visitors and would be optimized for search engines based on your marketing and brand strategy," Perez noted. "We believe in a human-based experience. That is why you will have your own dedicated professional website designer and developer – not chat bots. You won't be left with an unprofessional or unfinished design. You can chat, text, call or email us, ask us any questions you have, share with us your vision or send us some memes. Our superpower is to transform every detail of your idea into an amazing, epic website."

When it comes to e-commerce websites, Perez said, "We can create your online store, booking site, or monthly subscriptions for your loyal customers, making sure your customer's experience on your website would be unbeatable."

As for how customers rate ICOAZT, one customer, identified as Camilah Chanel, highly recommended them and noted, "Our website looks beautiful. Their whole support in my food truck's branding @camilchannel and www.loveatfirstbiteatl.com has been unbelievable."

But she isn't the only one raving about ICOAZT's services. A second customer identified as Simon Rojas, "They did an amazing work on our branding, and we partnered together designing and developing our website at bluadventure.it. It has been an incredible experience, and their work and communication is outstanding."
