

The Free and Equal Elections Foundation Announces Indigenous Speakers for its Forthcoming United We Stand Festival

The highly-anticipated festival will feature more than 50 special guests to speak and perform this weekend in-person and via livestream.

CAMBRIA, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, July 2, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Free and Equal Elections Foundation will host its seventh annual United We Stand Festival in the beachside town of Cambria, California, in partnership with the Brock Pierce Foundation, Open the Debates, and The Independent National Union

The United We Stand Festival will feature a wealth of Indigenous talent and speakers. Kandymaku of the Kogi Tribe will act as the representative of ancestral tribes from the heart of the spirit world.

Representing the Lakota Tribe, Doug Red Hail Pineda will be offering an opening prayer, and Josiah Helland of the Yaqui/Purepecha Tribe will join along with the traditional Native American flute. Jon Nash, Tribal Council Children's Ambassador Diplomat of the Yamassee Nation and Daniel Ramos, Chief Spiritual Elder of the Choctaw Muskogee Yamassee Nation, Grandfather Uncle of the prophecy of "Warriors of the Rainbow" Tribe of the 4 Directions and 4 Sacred Elements of Life will also be participating in the opening prayer.

The distinguished Ogimaa (Acha-Kooh-Waay), 'Jim', Anishinaabe Knowledgekeeper and Chief of Foothills Ojibway on Turtle Island, is scheduled to virtually speak at the event. Led by the spirit of the Eagle and the Condor and in accordance with the prophecy, Indigenous peoples will unite
