concerned we might have trouble placing this Rhodesian Ridgeback Puppies into good homes. I was completely shocked when the hundreds of calls and emails began coming in looking for Rhodesian Ridgebacks for sale from all of the nation." When asked what makes the Rhodesian Ridgeback breed so popular Erik offered this.

"Ridgebacks are phenomenal family pets, they are protective of family members, children, other animals, and other people within the boundaries of the property they reside on. As I put it they are big dogs with the fewest big dog problems. Rhodesian Ridgebacks are not known for sheading, health issues, aggression, overactivity, or high maintenance. Keep in mind Ridgebacks do require a lot of time, money, and mostly love. That is why we try to vet our potential buyers to place these dogs with families that will provide a rich, appropriate environment and most of all love for these beautiful companions." I went out to Eriks Ranch to meet the Rhodesian Ridgebacks and was greeted by Maverik and Charlie the sire and female parents of the
