/EINPresswire.com/ -- In this era, networking is mostly done digitally or through social media. This applies to businesses of all sizes and genres as well. Though digital communication and networking are in the vogue, the warmth of a handshake or a touch of physical business cards is undeniable. This is the reason businesses irrespective of size and genre still depend on business cards. The impact of handing out a business card is long-lasting. And if it is a luxury business card with exclusive design, color shape, and size, the leads can hardly forget them. And they are likely to recall you whenever they will need any product or service that you provide. PrintPapa is a reputable name in printing business cards of different kinds to suit the need, choices, and requirements of the clients.

PrintPapa allows the business card to be customized in any shape and size of your choice. Some of the common shapes are circle, triangle, ink drop, daisy, heart shape, and more. They can be printed made as per the color and paper specification. Whether you want the pearl, linen, 14-point, or 16-point cards, they can make it for you. We had a telephonic discussion with Mr. Paul Nag, co-founder of Printpapa. He said, "We all are going through a tough time. From common folks to businesses, all are suffering a from cash crunch. For businesses, the time is worse than ever before. Even during the recession, the community didn't face such huge financial loss. To cover up the loss at least to some extent, getting connected to new leads is inevitable. And business cards can do it effectively even during this digital era. We have a varied collection of business cards including plastic business cards.
