

RMDS and the CERT Announce Strategic Partnership to Empower Data Scientists in the Gulf Region

PASADENA, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, July 14, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Pasadena, USA and Abu Dhabi, UAE: Today, RMDS and CERT announced a new partnership with the goal of empowering data science students and professionals with training and development opportunities.

The Centre of Excellence for Applied Research & Training (CERT), a leader in Human Capital and Technology development, and RMDS Lab, a leading AI ecosystem and talent ecosystem service provider, signed a MoU to collaborate in capacity building, research platforms and enterprise development in data science and ICT-related areas in the UAE region and beyond.

The MoU focuses on the joint delivery of capacity development programs, certification pathways, an ambassador program, research platforms, and collaboration in consultancy in digital transformation. With this partnership, CERT and RDMS Lab will join forces to offer a portfolio of solutions that propels the development of both an ecosystem for data science and a certification framework in the UAE region.

Both companies are confident that the new partnership will provide data scientists with the additional training and certifications needed to enhance their professional development. With their combined resources, CERT and RMDS will contribute to the empowerment of data science students and professionals worldwide.

"I am excited to partner with CERT, a well-known institute in UAE, to expand our ecosystem services to the gulf region with localized support." Alex Liu CEO/Founder, RMDS

"As the era of big data is upon us and proliferating at an unprecedented rate, we believe this MoU will be a major driver in the adoption of Data Science programs in the UAE and region. We are looking forward to delivering excellence in our joint programs with RMDS." Dr. Mohamed Baka CEO, CERT
