Commenting on the collaboration, Jeya Kumar, MD & CEO of RaphaCure said, “Our partnership with Cognota gives RaphaCure the digital edge to drive innovation in patient care space. As the pandemic prompts customers to opt for contactless digital platforms, RaphaCure will leverage Cognota's various solutions to serve the entire ecosystem with much more efficiency. We have aided more than 1,000 home isolation cases and nursed customers back to health with 5,000 hours of telemedicine in the last few months.”

“Wellness has emerged as a key focus area in the healthcare space. With employers’ keen on taking care of employees’ mental and physical wellbeing amid this pandemic, RaphaCure is better placed to collaborate with corporate houses in this aspect by leveraging Cognota’s digital platforms,” Kumar said. Currently, RaphaCure has tie-ups with more than 30 corporate houses as a health and wellness provider.

Within a short span of this partnership, RaphaCure has already achieved some important milestones leveraging Cognota’s digital platforms. The online healthcare service provider has successfully vaccinated 10,000 plus people with COVID-19 jabs using Cognota’s platform. The company has achieved its single largest vaccination drive of inoculating 1,030 people for KASSIA-BOSCH in a span of six hours. As the technology partner, Cognota’s Tele-Consultation solution is also being used by RaphaCure for seamless patient engagement.

Commenting on this strategic collaboration, Mr Sanjeev Dahiwadkar, CEO & MD of Cognota Healthcare Technologies said, “We are excited to partner with India’s one of India’s leading online healthcare services provider RaphaCure in their digital transformation journey. The COVID pandemic has enhanced the importance of digital interfaces in the healthcare ecosystem. With our pioneering IT platform 'CognoHealth', we strive to provide timely healthcare solutions to all stakeholders with much more privacy and security.”

According to global research firm Research and Markets, India’s eHealth market will throw open $16 billion worth of opportunities by FY25. ePharmacy, eConsultation and eDiagnostics are likely to be the major segments driving the growth in eHealth space.
