enable 2-factor authentication for the resellers using the platform and would enhance the platform's security. The security team at VARStreet has been working aggressively towards improving the platform security. The company made a substantial investment in implementing a web application firewall or WAF early this year. The recent integration with CISCO Duo to enable 2-factor authentication will ensure added security for the resellers using the platform to manage their daily operations like sales quotations, B2B eCommerce, advanced catalog management, CRM, procurement, and more.

The steps are simple to enable the 2-factor authentication. The resellers need to create an administrator account on CISCO DUO and complete the next steps to access the API keys. These keys will be entered on the VARStreet's DUO setup page to enable the feature. The reseller can choose from the different modes of authentication like get a push notification on the Duo app or get a passcode on mobile or on their phone number. Resellers can also use the feature if the VARStreet app is not added to their DUO app.

Shiv Agarwal, Director VARStreet Inc. said, "Platform security has always been our top priority. This helps our partner resellers to use the platform without worrying about their data theft". The product team at VARStreet also mentioned that this integration is one of the many steps towards building a tighter integration with the relevant CISCO ecosystem and their offerings. Shiv also added, "The team has already completed the integration with CISCO's CCW and is working on CCW-R integration while evaluating other possible capabilities for value-added resellers of CISCO"
