Company*

Combining vegan, fair trade chocolate with vitamins, botanicals and clinically researched ingredients, the newest product extends the Functional Chocolate line with a new formulation designed to assist with the everyday challenges of focus and productivity.

As more workers return to office life while others remain working from home offices, kitchens, and basements, productivity and engagement are a struggle for many. Distractions are everywhere, pulling concentration in countless directions.

“The challenge of balancing work or studies with outside responsibilities and passions is more difficult than ever before,” explained Nicole Smith, CEO, The Functional Chocolate Company. “Based on years of research and full of clinically-researched ingredients, our team formulated Brainy Chocolate as a delicious way to get your head back in the game.”

With a combination of trusted botanicals including ginkgo biloba, bacopa and rhodiola, paired with a proprietary blend of amino acids, omega 3 fatty acids and Chocamine[®], a patented cocoa-based ingredient that may help improve cognitive function, Zesty Orange flavored Brainy Chocolate brings you back to center with calm focus.

Other offerings from The Functional Chocolate company include:

Energy Chocolate

Sleepy Chocolate

Carefree Chocolate for Stress and Anxiety

Hot Chocolate for Menopause

Sexy Chocolate for Low Libido
Rhythm Chocolate for PMS

All of The Functional Chocolate Company's bars are made with Fair Trade 60% cacao from a cooperative of South American farmers. Crafted in the USA, these bars are 100% plant-based, vegan, dairy-free, non-GMO, cholesterol and gluten-free.
