

Ben's Garage Door and Gate Supply Stockpiles Garage Door Panels in Game-Changing Industry Move

The Los Angeles-based company is one of the only garage door companies in the US to have garage door panels in stock.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, July 24, 2021

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In a game-changing move at the beginning of the pandemic, Ben's Garage Door and Gate Supply is announcing that, unlike most other garage door companies, it has plenty of garage door panels in stock for its clients.

Ben's Garage Door is the leading garage door company in Los Angeles, California. The company provides complete garage door services, ranging from installation, repair, and garage door maintenance. Ben's Garage Door is renowned throughout the Denver area and boasts hundreds of 5-star reviews on various platforms.

Recently, Ben's Garage Door has released a little secret the company has been holding on to – it made a bold move when the pandemic began to start stockpiling garage door panels and accessories. This move was due to the company's owner, Ben Vainer, seeing a necessity to retain its stock to support clients throughout Coronavirus.

“If you’re like most people, you may not realize how critical garage door springs and panels are to the proper function of your garage door,” Vainer says.

“This is the main reason why we stopped selling our stock to competitors when the pandemic began.

We knew for certain that our clients would be in need further down the road and we are so glad we took that time to stock up on all types of garage door panels and other accessories. Now, other companies and contractors are suffering from a severe lack of standard products while we are thriving.”

All this being said, Ben’s Garage Door is more than just a provider of garage door panels. The company also provides professional:

- Garage door education
- Garage door spring replacement
- Full garage door replacement
- Custom garage door replacement
- Emergency repair
- Garage door maintenance
- And more!
