

Affinity Bio Partners Launch Clinical Trials for P.A. Medical Cannabis Patients Suffering From Diabetic Nerve Pain

CHESTER SPRINGS, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES, August 3, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Affinity Bio Partners, a clinical research organization dedicated to safe, ethical studies that ensure subjects benefit from the development of new and novel treatments and therapies, is pleased to announce that it launched a clinical study in Pennsylvania for medical cannabis patients suffering from diabetic nerve pain. According to medscape.com, "A large American study estimated that 47% of patients with diabetes have some peripheral neuropathy." Those who are enrolled in Pennsylvania's medical cannabis program and suffer from diabetic nerve pain are urged to call 724-859-6200 or email research.pgh@serenagroups.com to check enrollment eligibility at no cost.

"I am so excited to be working on this clinical study with Dr. Bryan Doner and the Serena Group. The future of medical cannabis and cannabinoids as medical treatments are dependent upon properly performed clinical studies. It is time for companies to invest their money into performing clinical studies that prove safety and efficacy regarding their products," says Christina DiArcangelo, CEO, Affinity Bio Partners.
