This production/video was released in summer/fall of 2020 and reached about 350.000 views the first year.

How it came about to reach over a milion views? -Kimtinas ex husband downloaded the video and attached it on a sight called 9gag along with the news; actor Robert Pattinson "Edward" was to play the next upcoming Batman, and then it just went boom for Kimtinas production. In just 3 weeks, in march of 2021 it hit over 3 milion views and has kept growing ever since.

This production didn't really have a purpose, it was just something that got produced out of nothing. No ideas, just basically picking out some chords on the keyboard and a simple lead that just sounded nice. This song wasn't very long either, a little over a minute, but Kimtina had to make a full version of it when it started to spread around the world and it is now also available on Spotify, Apple Music, iHeart radio, Amazon, iTunes, Deezer.

Kimtina is teaming up with Zeptagram to list parts of rights to crowdfunding, which allows followers and fans to acquire publishing rights shares as well as supporting her music.

"This is actually a great way to let fans and followers know that they really matter and are very important for me as an artist. Basically in any business; sharing is equally important as receiving" says Kimtina.
