

Peters Calls on Secretary Cegavske to Reject Dominion Voting Systems

LAS VEGAS, NV, UNITED STATES, August 11, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today Sam Peters, United States Air Force veteran, Bronze Star recipient, and Republican candidate for Congress in Nevada's 4th District, called on Nevada's Secretary of State, Barbara Cegavske to reject the use of electronic/computerized tabulating machines for the upcoming 2022 elections. Peters noted that under Nevada law, electronic/computerized tabulating machines cannot be used unless specifically approved by the Secretary of State. With the integrity of the electoral process questioned by multiple jurisdictions across the country, internationally, and right here in Nevada, Peters believes firmly that rejecting further use of voting machines that have verified vulnerabilities is a must. In his letter to the Nevada Secretary of State, Peters points out that Texas has rejected the use of Dominion voting systems three separate times, the systems have been involved in international election concerns, and more recently have had verified problems in Fulton, Pennsylvania.

"Nevadans, and citizens across our country, have questioned the 2020 election results. Much of the concern surrounds the use of computerized/electronic voting machines. These machines are used in 28 states, including here in Nevada," said Sam Peters. "When data specialists and government agencies alike have identified software vulnerabilities and near undetectable and uncertified software installed on these machines, action must be taken. And, thankfully, under Nevada law, the authority to take appropriate action rests with one person – our Secretary of State. I'm urging the Secretary to act immediately and to start preparations ahead of the 2022 election cycle. Nevadans deserve a true and fair election where one citizen receives one verifiable ballot and one verifiable vote. Let's restore faith in the election system today.

"The right to vote is a sacred right of Americans," concluded Peters. "Yet just as sacred is the assurance that every legally cast vote is counted properly and only once. Continued use of the electronic/computerized tabulating machines that Nevada used in 2020 will further erode voter confidence in the electoral process."
