CARROLLTON, GA. & FORT WALTON BEACH, FLA., UNITED STATES, August 18, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ --

CareTrack Health, a fully integrated Telecare physician practice extension, partnered with White-Wilson Medical Center to benefit the practice's Medicare population. CareTrack's adherence system enables primary care physicians to monitor patient's care plan out of office while empowering patients to proactively identify potential issues. The CareTrack Telecare platform was implemented last year and physician practices have benefited from the continuous patient support that provides relief to the practice's staff and provides flexible monitoring depending on the patient's health status. In addition to making patients happier, the White-Wilson Medical Center has already realized $2.3 million in new revenue in additional Medicare reimbursements and anticipates to exceed $4 million in additional reimbursements this year.

Dr. Brown's case study covers many advantages of implementing CareTrack including a high-level overview of the company, benefits he has witnessed first-hand for both patients and providers, how practices can implement this system and more. The conclusion of the study illustrates that CareTrack plays an important role for practices to help keep both "critical" and "chronic but stable" patients healthy.

"In medicine, the healthcare providers are the most credible people when it comes to determining what works for their practice, so we are so thankful for Dr. Brown's testimonial on our work," said CareTrack Co-Founder and CEO Andrew Mills. "Our team appreciates the validation from the White-Wilson staff that the Telecare platform benefits the practice in a variety of ways. It has been incredibly rewarding to be able to improve the outcomes of the practice's Medicare patients by continuously monitoring their health changes outside of the office."
