The second reason is because an astrology charts can tell a person how their financial outlook will be over the next year. It is based on the time and day that someone is born.

Third, astrology tells someone what their career outlook will look like. Millennials like the fact that their astrology chart can give them a prediction on what kind of a career they will be involved in.

This generation often believes that their zodiac sign is already predestined to do something. Instead of blaming themselves for life failures, millennials will often look at astrology and say that its not meant to be because of the stars not wanting something for a person’s life. Thehelpfulpsychic.com says that a fourth reason why millennials love astrology is because they can involve themselves in spirituality without feeling judged. Astrology has no set of rules that someone must live by. Modern day religion often dictates what a person must believe in.

A fifth reason is because this generation wants to feel good. They want to think like they are not sinning when they do something wrong. Instead of calling it a sin, it's a life lesson that can be corrected.

The sixth reason is because many people today want to not feel judged. Millennials and younger generations often feel that religion says that a person has to live their life a certain way. Astrology makes it possible for someone to make their own life choices and rules.

Twin Flame writer says that the eighth reason why many people like astrology these days is because someone does not have to go to a "church." One can pray at home or not ask God for help at all. Astrology is more of a pseudoscience that is based on study and not prayer.

The ninth reason why this generation loves astrology is because it does not force them to give money. In many modern-day churches, members are encouraged to give money or a tithe to their place of worship. Millennials often feel that their generation is being hit hard by low paying jobs and they would rather not be forced to give their hard earned money to a building.

Thehelpfulpsychic.com also says that the tenth reason why this generation loves astrology is because it gives them the freedom to educate themselves at their own leisure. Many modern day churches encourage Bible study groups or sacred text gatherings in which members are forced to read.

Astrology gives people the option to study in their own time. If they do not have time to read, it is encouraged to contact an astrologer for a psychic reading.

available to the general public. The internet makes it possible to study ancient God's, religious practices and beliefs.

Today, astrology is making a comeback for people that want to know that most things in their life are not their fault. The main reason is because a person's astrological birth chart says that something is going to happen based on what the planets are saying. It says that it has nothing to do with something that a person did.

Astrology makes it easier for a person to love themselves. Many modern day religions teach people that they are going to go to hell or be doomed for all eternity for something that they did. Astrology teaches that everyone is a loving soul and not everything will work out the way that you want it to.

Astrology is practiced all over the world and has been for thousands of years. However, in the United States of America, it is fairly new. Astrology made a comeback in the early part of the 20th century.

Millennials also like astrology because it can be practiced in any religion. There are no rules as to what someone should believe. Many times, celebrity tabloids write daily horoscope columns. Many men and women read these daily and weekly. Astrologers write these columns in order to give their readers a mini prediction of what the outlook will be for their astrological sign.

Thehelpfulpsychic.com believes that the universe is living in a new age. There are old belief systems being resurfaced. The world today is evolving into more acceptance of each other. This new form of love is replacing the old way of spiritual practice of judging one another based on what a particular religious text says.

It is clear that people all over the world are seeking acceptance of who they are as a person. Astrology makes it easier to love a fellow brother or sister because someone does not have to judge another person based on what a text book says. Instead, an individual tries to learn about someone else based on who they are saying that they are.

The new age movement is in its infancy stage says soulmatetwinflame.com. It still has a long way to go before people learn to accept one another for who they are. Love is something that is easier to do with astrology. The reason for this is because it teaches people to match yourself up with someone that gets along with your particular zodiac sign.
