The firms on the Inc. 5000 for 2021 have been fierce competitors in their fields, but they've also proven to be highly robust and adaptable in the face of extraordinary obstacles in 2020. The average three-year growth rate among the 5,000 was 543 percent, and median revenue was $11.1 million. Over the last three years, the listed companies have added more than 610,000 jobs.

The Methodology

The Inc. 5000 for 2021 is ranked based on percentage revenue growth from 2017 to 2020. Companies must have been incorporated and generating revenue by March 31, 2017, to be eligible. They must be based in the United States, privately held, for-profit, and independent as of December 31, 2020—not subsidiaries or divisions of other corporations. (Some on the list may have gone public or been bought after then.) For 2017, a minimum of $100,000 in revenue is necessary; for 2020, a minimum of $2 million is required. Inc., as always, has the right to reject applications for arbitrary reasons. To obtain corporate rankings, growth rates were calculated to three decimal places; on this year's Inc. 5000, there was one tie.
