

UCBOS, Inc. Appoints Larry Layden as Senior VP

UCBOS, Inc. today announced the appointment of Larry Layden.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, August 30, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- UCBOS, Inc. today announced the appointment of Larry Layden. Layden joins the team as Senior Vice President.

Layden is an innovative, forward-thinking business-driven leader who has what it takes to transform a traditional business into a data-driven company.

"Larry brings a wealth of knowledge in applying innovative supply chain technology and progressive practices in transforming discrete manufacturing and consumer product goods. His leadership is extremely valuable as we continued to support customers with a unified logical data model platform to achieve multi-directional orchestration to deliver a persistent customer experience. We welcome him to the UCBOS family," said Shan Muthuvelu, President & CEO of UCBOS, Inc.

Prior to UCBOS, Layden was VP of Savigent, a Gartner Smart Manufacturing "Cool Tool" used by some of the largest Commodity, High-Tech, and industrial manufacturing companies in more than 28 countries. Before that, he spent 5 years at Capgemini, most recently as a Principal/Account Executive, where he managed Capgemini's America's Consumer Goods, Retail and Distribution consulting and systems integration business for customer accounts. During his tenure at Terra Technology (now E2Open), he served as Partner and Senior VP of Sales/Customer Care which developed the Demand Sensing industry capability, and he led companies to understand and overcome challenges that had perplexed the world's largest Consumer Package
