

Phoenix Water Damage Services is an IICRC Certified Water Damage Restoration Company

A certified company is committed to their field and adheres to professional standards to provide quality services.

PHOENIX, AZ, USA, September 2, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Phoenix Water Damage services is a certified company through the Institute of Inspection Cleaning and Restoration Certification, also known as IICRC. This certification gives water damage restoration technicians the background to understand the procedures necessary to deal with residential and commercial water losses, sewer backflows, and contamination such as mold. They also have a better concept of water damage, it's effects and techniques for drying of structures. Continuous education in this industry provides incredible value and peace of mind to customers.

The experienced restoration experts at Phoenix Water Damage Services also offer additional carpet services available to their customers after the dry out process has been completed. These services include removing contaminated carpet pad and installing new carpet pad, carpet cleaning with a botanical disinfectant and carpet stretching. This is a bonus for their customers as they do not have to hire multiple companies.
