TCOM, LP

TCOM will specifically feature its strategic Lighter-Than-Air 71Meter and 74Meter Persistent Surveillance Aerostat Platforms to optimize Missile Defense programs for European governments. As the number of military threats continues to grow for long-distant scenarios, Governments have a critical need to possess the ability to sense far beyond an active conflict that is critical to national security.

Designed to enhance customers' effectiveness in today's multi-domain operations, TCOM's Lighter-Than-Air systems provide a persistent presence complimenting and enhancing UAVs, Aircraft, and satellites. Capable of providing three hundred-sixty-degree coverage for detection, surveillance, monitoring, and targeting on long endurance missions exceeding 14 days, Lighter-Than-Air platforms create a unique ability to understand life patterns in areas of interest.

TCOM enables a true system-of-systems approach to meet its customers' objectives effectively and efficiently. With 50 years of operational experience, TCOM can provide customers stand-alone Lighter-Than-Air systems, enhanced sensor packages and upgraded command and control for their current systems, or a complete C5ISR deployment with multiple platform types and communications networks.
