

Jeremy Shada and Junko Takeuchi Join over 120 Actors to Bring Cookie Run: Kingdom to Life

Massive Hollywood voiceover project with over 120 actors and influencers brings popular mobile RPG game, Cookie Run: Kingdom - to life

SAN MATEO, CA, USA, September 2, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Devsisters Celebrates over 10 Million Global Downloads for Cookie Run: Kingdom with Launch of English and Japanese-Language Voiceovers

Today, Devsisters, announces its popular mobile RPG game, Cookie Run: Kingdom is launching English and Japanese-language versions with voiceovers from 128 acclaimed actors and influencers. Following the initial launch earlier this year, the new game versions will include 64

English- and 64 Japanese-speaking actors and influencers, to personify all the Cookies and engage on a deeper level with players in those languages. The Japanese version of the mobile app launches today, with the English-language version coming on October 8, 2021.

GingerBrave is such a cute character and I'm excited to see how fans of the mobile games react to my voice for him.”

Jeremy Shada, Actor

“GingerBrave is such a cute character and I'm excited to see how fans of the mobile games react to my voice for him,” stated Jeremy Shada, best known for playing Reggie in Netflix's 'Julie and the Phantoms' as well as voicing Finn the Human from the hit animated series 'Adventure Time'.

In addition to top voice acting talent, 10 well-known influencers, including OJ Gaming and InquisitorMaster, were also selected. Michael J Wilson (Ice: Collision Course, Shark Tale, and Ice Age) helped write the script.

Each of the English and Japanese-speaking actors and influencers will play a unique Cookie character, with its own dedicated story, personality, and skills, reflecting the game's dedication to diversity and inclusion. Players can access and unlock Cookie characters as they progress through the game.
