

Binance extends their ecosystem to Verge Currency ($XVG)

A new opportunity for Verge Currency has emerged. Once again, Binance extends their ecosystem to Verge users by bringing another great feature to the community

USA, September 7, 2021

/EINPresswire.com/ -- We are happy to let you know that Verge Currency (XVG) can now be used on Binance Pay.

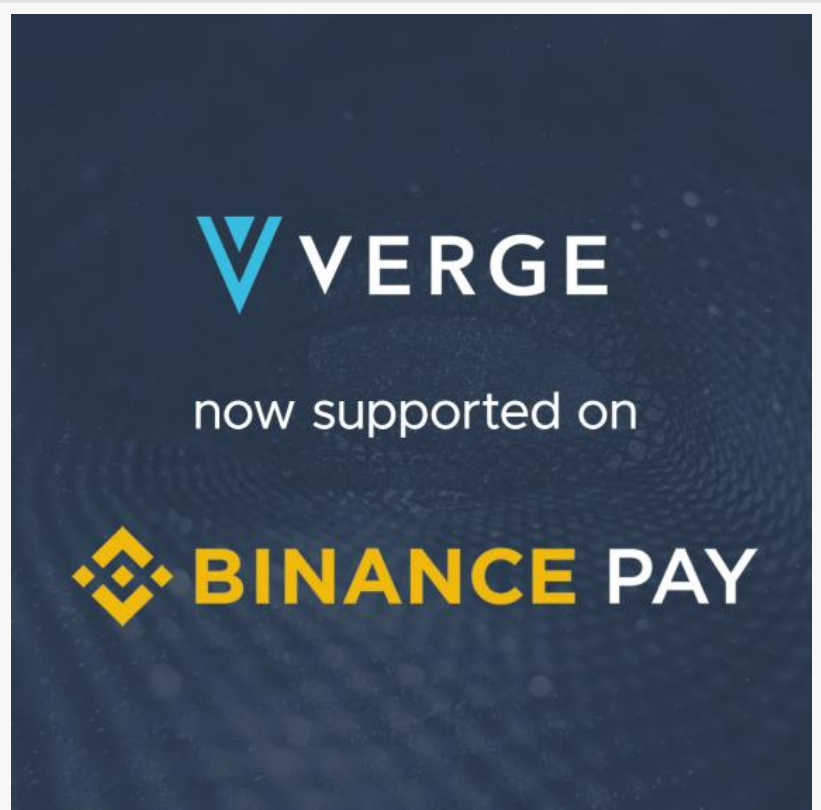

What is it?

Binance Pay is a contactless, borderless and secure user-to-user cryptocurrency payment feature on the Binance App. The service now features the Pay and merchant functions allowing users to pay, send and receive crypto payments around the world without incurring any fees.*

Following the recent integration of $XVG on the Trava.com platform, an important partner of Binance; a new opportunity for Verge Currency has emerged. Once again, Binance extends their ecosystem to Verge users by bringing another great feature to the community.

How it works?

Binance Pay allows users to send,

spend and receive cryptocurrency with zero fees and lightning fast payments, making it an accessible and effortless way of transacting value worldwide:

Send and spend crypto at zero fees
Shop and pay with crypto
Send crypto to friends and family

Binance.com users can open a Binance Pay account by creating a unique nickname that will be linked to their Pay ID number. After that's completed, users can then fund their wallet with $XVG and send to friends/family and pay for goods and services, by using Pay ID, Email or Mobile number of the recipient.
A use case for Merchants

Binance Pay integrating Verge brings significant new benefits. What benefits would that be exactly? This integration opens the door to a large new variety of merchants that can accept $XVG! Using Verge just got a whole lot easier and is really just a click away!

We are very excited to be added to Binance Pay, making it easier for consumers to use $XVG with retail, and expanding our adoption with an unlimited array of uses.”
