Trends In The Global Neurosurgery Devices And Equipment Market

Minimally invasive surgical procedures and approaches are the new frontier in neurosurgery as they result in less pain than open surgeries, shorter recovery times, less scarring, increase surgeon mobility and reduce equipment costs. Neuroendoscopy is a minimally invasive neurosurgical procedure performed through neurosurgery devices to correct hydrocephalus, remove tumors, treat vascular disease, and manage other disorders. Neurosurgery device manufacturers are innovating and integrating technologies for advanced endoscope-assisted neurosurgery in order to provide efficient minimally invasive surgeries, operative procedures, clinical advances, and new technological developments. For instance, end users such as hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers and others are using smartphones with endoscopes for performing safe and efficient endoscope-assisted neurosurgery. In New York-Presbyterian Hospital/Columbia University Medical Center, minimally invasive neurosurgeries are preferred over open surgeries with the help of specialized instruments and technologies such as camera assisted endoscope, high-powered operating microscope, computer-assisted navigation system and others to treat conditions in adults and children.
