

Interior Doors Market Projected to Reach $85,410 Million by 2025- Exclusive Research Report by AMR

Surge in residential & non-residential construction and increase in expenditure on home remodeling in the developed economies such as the U.S drives the market

PORTLAND, OR, UNITED STATES,
September 6, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/

-- The demand for interior doors is driven by surge in residential & non-residential construction activities, development of energy-efficient doors, and surge in home improvement & remodeling expenditures. Moreover, doors are manufactured using various materials such as wood, metal, glass, fiberglass, fiberboard, vinyl, and others.

The global interior doors market was valued at $52,616 million in 2017, and is expected to reach at $85,410 million by 2025, growing at a CAGR of 6.3% from 2018 to 2025.

Increase in demand for recyclable raw materials and rise in government support to adopt polyvinyl chloride (uPVC) due to improved energy efficiency properties are expected to boost the interior doors market growth. However, high price packages of eco-friendly products restrain the growth of the interior doors industry. Conversely, rapid urbanization & industrialization and rise in disposable income in emerging markets are expected to offer lucrative opportunities for the market players operating in the interior doors market.
