"We are very excited about this," said Mirza Pilakovic, President of Bold City Heating & Air.

Pilakovic explained that its newly launched online schedule feature gives visitors to its website access to an online estimating and scheduling system.

"Simply look for the orange button on our website that says, "Schedule Appointment Online." This allows individuals to receive a walkthrough of the process and also receive information on what their appointment entails.

The company's addition of its online scheduling option comes on the heels of its recently launched Preferred Customer Program, where you can enjoy several perks that not only help you save money but also helps to ensure your air conditioning and heating system runs smoothly year round.
