

West Hartford Power Washers New Summer Specials for Residential Pressure Washing

West Hartford Power Washers are offering limited summer specials for their exclusive residential pressure washing services for the rest of the season.

WEST HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT, USA, September 7, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/

-- The respected team from West Hartford Power Washers is encouraging residential pressure washing in West Hartford by offering limited-time deals on their services. They want their current and potential clients to take care of the much-needed task now before the weather starts to cool down and the job has to wait.

Residential power washing in West Hartford is something that homeowners should consider adding to their list of things to do to prepare for the upcoming winter season. Leaving the dirt, grime, and other build-ups on the exterior surfaces of a home for too long can result in permanent damage. These dedicated professionals have witnessed what happens when people wait too long and don't want to see the same problems with the customers they value so much.

"We have been working with the community members in West Hartford for a while now, and we want to do what we can to give back to those that have supported us. By offering these special discounts, the clients we appreciate will get their much-needed house cleaning at a more affordable rate. It's also a benefit to them because they aren't risking more extensive staining or problems areas by leaving the contaminates on the exterior surfaces of buildings over the course of the winter. It can lead to some serious and more expensive issues, and we want to avoid that at all costs. Even if that means ramping up and putting in the overtime to serve everyone ready to take advantage of what we're offering." the owner and operator of the business said in an interview recently.

Experts in the power washing industry suggest professional residential power washing in West Hartford at least every six to 12 months. By getting the surfaces cleaned regularly, the potential for mold and mildew growth is greatly reduced. Unfortunately, the fungus takes away from the appearance and value of the home, but it can also lead to health issues like breathing problems.

Another problem that West Hartford Power Washers have seen in properties that haven't been routinely cleaned is discoloration of the siding. The grease, dust, and chemical residues sitting on materials like vinyl siding cause the color to fade, leading to the replacement of the exterior structural features prematurely. The cost of pressure washing a home is much more reasonable, with rates averaging between $183 to $380 in the United States. The average cost to replace siding on a 1,800 square foot home can be upwards of $5,000.

One of the long-term power washing contractors from West Hartford Power Washers said, "I've been on a lot of job sites where clients waited way too long to get their house pressure washed. We do what we can to remove what's already baked on, but sometimes it's too late to bring back the original condition of the siding. So these specials that our company is offering are something that I am going to take advantage of at my own house. It's a small price to pay considering what will happen if the service isn't completed at the regular time intervals suggested."

The residential pressure washing services that are being discounted by the team at West Hartford Power Washers include everything that they have on their service menu. They can do window cleaning, paver cleaning and sealing, disinfection services, driveway power washing, patio cleaning, and more. During the on-site evaluation, a technician walks with the customer around the property to determine which power washing processes will be most beneficial and budget-friendly.

"We are already seeing plenty of our former customers grabbing up the rates we have available right now, and our appointment book is filling up fast. We have a crew capable of getting to homes sometimes the very same day. However, with the demand increasing, we're urging anyone that is ready for their home power washing services to call sooner rather than later." the business operator mentioned.

There are only a few weeks left of summer before temperatures start to drop. While power washing a home in the winter is possible, it's not something this veteran crew is willing to do if the temperatures go below 40 degrees. The water will freeze, and it increases the risk of falling for the pressure washing contractors. The cleaning is also less effective. These are all the reasons why West Hartford Power Washers put the deals in place.

If you're interested in taking advantage of the summer specials for residential pressure washing in West Hartford, you can visit the company's new website and fill out a convenient online quote form. Phone calls, emails, and text messages are also accepted and returned quickly.
