

VentiSwap: Cross-Blockchain DeFi Exchange Platform Launching with Specialized Insights & Technology

New Platform gives users real-time charts, secure wallet connection, the functionality to speed up or cancel pending transactions and more features

CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, September 7, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- VentiSwap LLC (VentiSwap), is pleased to announce it has entered the final stages in its production, and expects to be available for public use in the fourth quarter of 2021. This announcement follows the initial seed sale for the VentiSwap token which began on September 3, 2021.

The VentiSwap DEX aggregation platform allows users to trade a wide variety of blockchains including Bitcoin, Ethereum, Solana, Polygon, BNB, Cardano, Tron and many more – on one, streamlined platform. A unique three-point security protocol monitors tokens being listed and removes any that do not meet the VentiSwap guidelines, ensuring the legitimacy of the contracts/tokens on the platform.

“Our goal with VentiSwap is to create a cross-blockchain DeFi exchange that promises to minimize exchange rates between transactions, and encourages traders to take full advantage of potential returns by placing transactional orders with multiple liquidity pods,” said Michael Carlin, Co-Founder of VentiSwap.

“There’s been a demand within the blockchain community for more integrated platforms and streamlined services, and I think VentiSwap will be a welcomed addition to the market,” continued Mr. Carlin.

The team behind VentiSwap aspired to create a “one stop swap” DeFi trading exchange. The unique VentiSwap technology monitors spam accounts and immediately removes violating profiles from the platform, giving confidence to real traders that their wallets are secured.

VentiSwap is expected to be available by the end of 2021. A viewable demo is available on the website and can be found at VentiSwap.com.
