Incredible luxury bedding designed for you

market (without the department store markup), but they are also tailor-made for any sleep style or preference.

After years of working in the bedding industry selling some of the highest user rated pillows on the market and earning a reputation as “The Pillow Guy” — founder and CEO Isaac Scharf, started to see just how overwhelming it was to find quality luxury bedding.

“I was a single guy living in Los Angeles. My friends and I enjoy the finer things in life, and we knew what we wanted when it came to our cars, our clothes, restaurants, and travel.”

But when it came to bedding —“I knew there had to be a way to streamline the process for those of us who just wanted high quality, luxury bedding without the hassle of combing through countless reviews or aimlessly roaming department store aisles.”

“We put in the hard work, R&D and field testing to find the finest fabrics, most comfortable fills and optimized densities for stomach, side or back sleepers. The materials are ethically sourced with sustainable options, and we’ve chosen colors and designs that will fit into any bedroom.

If you don't go home and look forward to lying in bed, chances are you need an upgrade. And Pillow Guy is here to help.
