Adam Adler says that one of the major benefits associated with running your own business is that you get to find your own home and work-life balance. An eight-hour workday five days a week is the standard for most jobs out there. Unfortunately though, this does not work for every person. Being away five days may be too much for you, or you may find that working during the daytime when your kids are home is not best for you. You are allowed to find a schedule that works for you and allows you to find the right home and work-life balance.

If you want to spend a chunk of your life doing something you love, opening a business that you find fulfilling can help you do that.
