“We are expanding our informal alliance to better serve clients throughout Europe who have or are adding American operations and American clients expanding into Europe,” said EOS founding partner Maggie Brereton. “Deals go global quite quickly, so global reach is key to best support our clients. We are aligned in the way we approach deals, with senior hands-on and opinionated teams, and we can see that very clearly as we are delivering projects together,” she said.

“Our fast-growing customers create added value with international transactions and are therefore dependent on high-quality and flexible deal advice. We have created these prerequisites with our unique alliance,” said Carsten Kniephoff, Managing Partner at AC Christes & Partner.
