URAC’s Health Utilization Management Accreditation (HUM) Standards ensure that organizations conducting utilization review follow a process that is clinically sound and respects patients’ and providers’ rights while giving payers’ reasonable guidelines to follow. Standards address the use of evidence-based guideline, incorporation of adherence guidelines, and evaluation of utilization rates to meet demands of a changing health care system. Cost effective care with optimal outcomes reinforces the value and importance of health utilization management across the health care continuum including health plans, hospitals, specialty care for mental health and long-term

“Appropriateness and efficiency are words to live by in meeting new value-based goals for population health. Care to Care’s URAC accreditation shows an ability to abide by the gold standard when it comes to performing Health Utilization Management functions,” said URAC President and CEO Shawn Griffin, M.D. “URAC’s utilization management accreditation standards promote an evidence-based and reasonable review of services that respect both patients and providers.”
