Introducing Moda Endrizzi's Bags

Three beautiful initial designs make it extremely difficult to choose between them. These are the Dolcetto Crossbody Bag, the Jessica Mae Tote Bag, or the Ragazza Hobo Bag.

The Dolcetto, or little sweet one, is a versatile purse meant for every occasion. It can be used as a crossover bag or clutch purse. That means it looks just as nice with an evening outfit, on a dinner date, or even for daily use.

The Jessica Mae is a tote bag named after one of the founders of Moda Endrizzi. Finished to stand out, the bag features a contrasting red interior, making it the preferred choice for women in the corporate world. This bag fits most laptop sizes and has a main compartment that seals with a double set of magnetic locks. Every detail of this fine bag is well-thought-out, including the detachable fabric pouch with zipper and the metal feet protecting it from dirty surfaces.

A utility bag as beautiful as the Ragazza is hard to find. The bag is built to adapt its shape to the body of its owner, and it features a spacious interior with zippered dividers, cotton twill lining, and a phone pocket.

Moda Endrizzi bags are both trendy and classic thanks to their minimalist design and colors. Crafted to match the lifestyle of today's women, their colors include black, tan, cream, and nude, making them easy to match with every outfit and occasion. Unboxing an Endrizzi bag offers the same thrill as opening any of the other trendy brands like Michael Kors, Coach, or Kate Spade. The beautiful packaging exudes luxury, and as the bag spills out, its proud owner is met with the luxurious touch of Moda Endrizzi tassel, seam work, and hardware.

A beautiful Italian tale

The Endrizzi name stems from Italy, where Guido and Constantina Endrizzi were born. The two Italian immigrants arrived from their village called Cavedago to Ellis Island, New York, in 1918. They moved to the Midwest where they raised their nine children. Amabile (Mable) Endrizzi, one of the nine children, is grandmother to Founder, Samuel.
