"The planning of the Environmental Education Center at DeForest Park would not be possible without the vigilance of our intrepid partners. We're confident that this new site will be aesthetically pleasing as well as a functional way to serve the city," states Dan Knapp, CEO of the Conservation Corps of Long Beach.

Immediately following the groundbreaking, Vice Mayor Rex Richardson will lead a panel discussion entitled: "Green Up: Resiliency and Environmental Stewardship." The discussion will cover the future of North Long Beach's progress toward Resiliency and Environmental Stewardship.
