

Amuka Esports Signs Definitive Agreement to Acquire Legends Esports

One of the largest amateur esports leagues for League and Legends and Valorant joins the Amuka Esports portfolio

TORONTO, ON, CANADA, September 20, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Amuka Esports has signed a definitive agreement with Legends Esports to fully acquire the company. Legends Esports, based in Waterloo, ON, has built one of the largest amateur leagues for game titles such as League of Legends and Valorant that includes 7 competitive divisions and over 1,500 total players.

Founded in 2019 by Andrew Collard, Nathan Bondy, and Joseph Paul, Legends Esports seeks to give players a professional gaming experience with balanced and competitive leagues, advanced stats, standings, weekly streams, and a safe playing environment.

Ben Feferman, CEO of Amuka Esports

“Andrew, Nathan and their entire community have proven that they are the premiere esports league for League of Legends and Valorant and their growth has been off the charts. We are excited to continue to build on that momentum and expand into new game titles,” according to Ben Feferman, CEO of Amuka Esports

The acquisition by Amuka Esports will see some new and excited changes for the Legends Esports platform. These changes include more divisions, new game titles, bigger prize pools, sponsored giveaways, and collegiate intramural leagues.

“We are so proud of the growth we’ve been able to achieve over the past year and we are amped about the next chapter with the Amuka team. We have built an amazing community and we are just getting started,” according to Andrew Collard, CEO of Legends Esports.

Registration for the next split opens in December, but you can visit legendsesports.gg for more information on events, tournaments, and quality productions in the coming months.
