

The Bulk Liquid Market Is Shaped By Increasing Chemical Demand And The ELD Technology

The Business Research Company's Bulk Liquid Market Report - COVID-19 Impact and Recovery

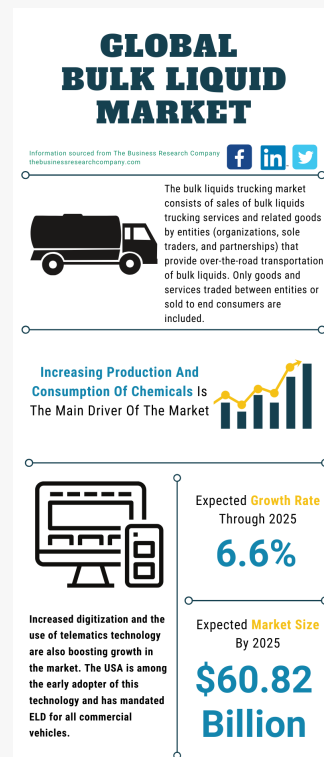

LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK,
September 25, 2021 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Increasing production and consumption of chemicals drives the demand for the bulk liquids transportation market. According to the American Chemical Council, tons of products are supplied to the chemicals industry through rail, truck, waterborne modes, and pipelines. Therefore, high production and consumption of chemicals and related products are projected to generate high demand for bulk liquids trucking transportation and subsequently fueling the growth of the bulk liquid market.

Electronic Logging Devices (ELD) are increasingly being adopted by the trucking industry to regulate the working hours of truck drivers. An electronic logging device is a technology used by drivers of commercial motor vehicles (CMVs) to automatically record driving time and Hours of Service (HOS) records, capture data on the vehicle's engine, movement, and miles driven.
