

The Health Care Transformation Task Force Releases a Facilitation Guide for Successful Value-Based Payment Arrangements

WASHINGTON, D.C., UNITED STATES, September 28, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today, the Health Care Transformation Task Force released a new resource to assist health care payer and provider efforts to form successful Alternative Payment Model (APM) arrangements. The resource, titled Building Better Partnerships: A Facilitation Guide for Successful Value Based Payment

Arrangements, combines fresh insights from Task Force members with existing tools and best practice summaries to create a practical guide for those tasked with negotiating and operating APMs.

Jeff Micklos, Executive Director, HCTTF

“At the core, successful value-based payment arrangements are rooted in effective partnerships,” said Jeff Micklos, Task Force Executive Director. “Trust among like-minded collaborators is an essential ingredient.”

“Effective value partnerships begin with preparation,” said David Terry, CEO of Archway Health. “Organizations cannot be effective partners if they don’t know what they seek in a value-based arrangement.”

The guide includes toolkits like the Task Force partnership evaluation templates and explainers that break down common payment arrangements, as well as advice on less tangible – but critically important – aspects of successful partnerships like trust building, relationship management, and effective staffing.

“Understanding your role, direction, and desired objectives prepares you to be an effective partner,” said Dr. Tom Lundquist, Senior Vice President and Chief Medical Officer, Sentara Health Plans. “Once a plan is in place, long term success requires open communication, adaptability, and willingness to compromise.”
